A Study in Contrasts

IN selecting the color scheme for bathrooms, care must be exercised to avoid repeating closely related color themes. Sameness in color results in a monotonous tone—one that destroys the inherent beauty of the several elements.

By the judicious use of decided contrasts this danger can be avoided.

Study the three color spots. A touch of yellow on white loses itself and adds nothing to the white. Contrast is weak.

Step up the contrast by using a stronger color. You will see that blue holds the eye and heightens the whiteness of the background. The contrast between color and its surroundings is greater.

Now brush on a stroke of black and see how the strong contrast immediately commands the eye; how the surrounding area gains in sparkle and purity. These three simple illustrations show the importance of contrast in decorative treatment of bathrooms.

In the Nubian line of fixtures, Republic offers a happy means to vivid contrast. Handles and wall plates are of ebony black. No matter what color scheme you use, a Nubian fixture will harmonize with it and give the strong contrast value so essential to an artistic ensemble.

Nubian fixtures are beautiful in themselves. Graceful lines and flowing curves mark the master-designer. All metal parts are heavily chromium plated and burnished to a bright satiny finish of exceptional charm.

And Nubian fixtures add to the beauty of soft-hued tiles—of snowy white or colored lavatories and tubs—through the power of contrast.

The manner in which a Nubian fixture heightens the charm and appeal of its background is clearly revealed by the two illustrations in this column. See how the ebony black Nubian wall plate emphasizes the texture and color of the tile; how both the fixture and the tile gain through the skillful use of contrast.

The Nubian wall plate is made of Permo—a material with glasslike finish and granite-like hardness. The color can never fade—never lose its brilliancy.

Architects are specifying Nubian and builders are insisting upon it for they know that home-seekers buy one home against another squarely on the difference in beauty of bathrooms. Apartment owners recognize the power of bathroom charm to keep a waiting list—and install Nubian exclusively.

Nubian fixtures are riding the crest of a dynamic sales wave. For home owners and home renters want bathrooms with the charm Nubian alone can give.

There is a Nubian fixture to meet every requirement. Included are complete fixtures for built-in tubs; for combination tub and shower baths; for lavatories with or without concealed spouts; for lavatories with shampoo fixtures; and for kitchen sinks. The Republic Catalog gives full information on the several fixtures available in the Nubian line.
